Jewellery as a lifeline

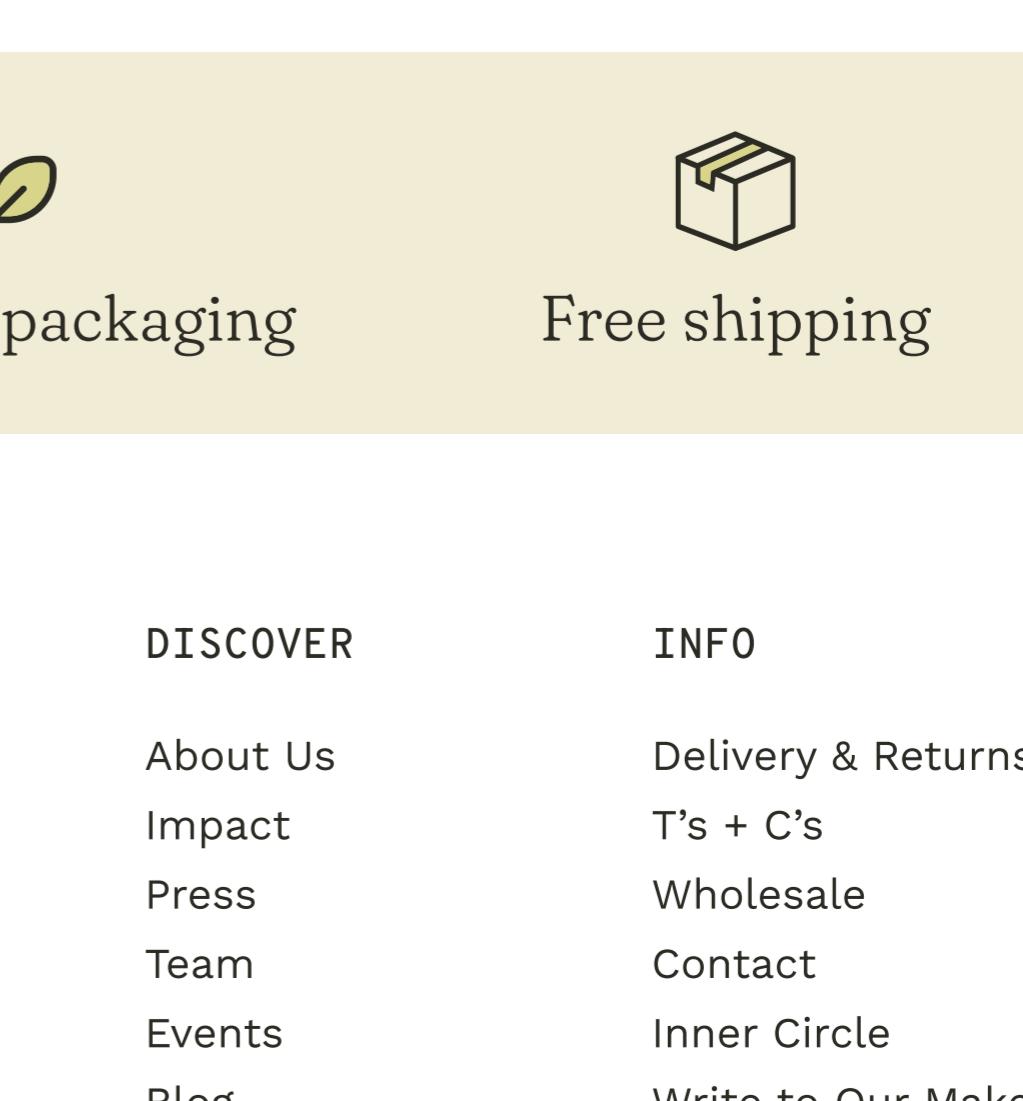

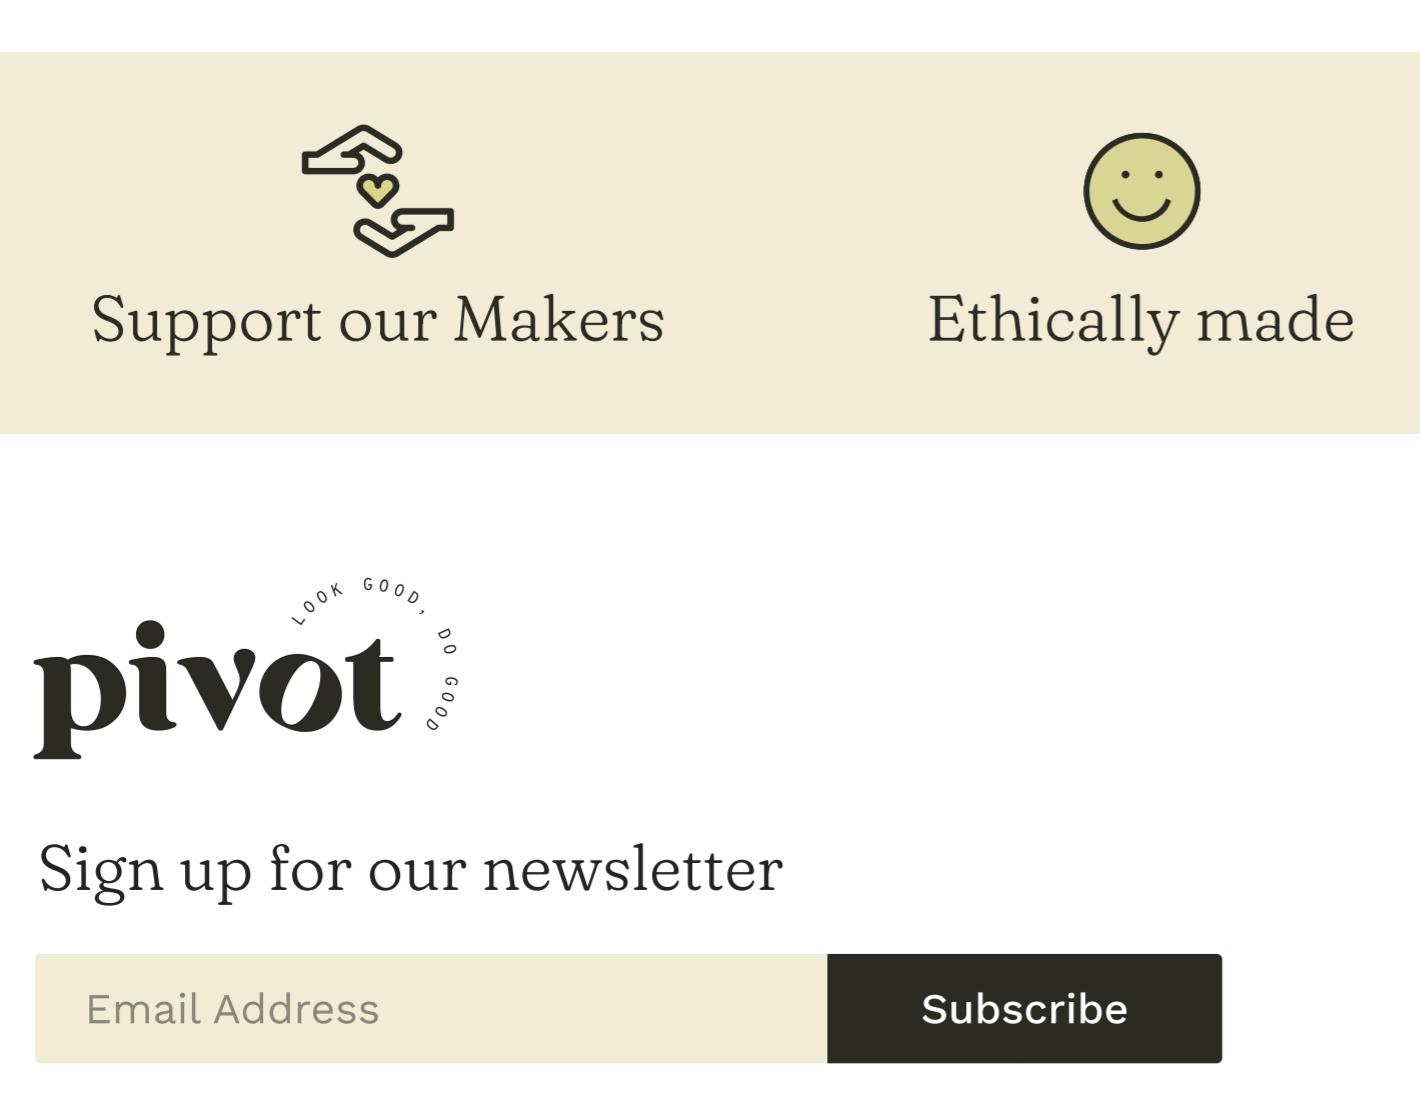

We design products that can be made in hostels, bringing part-time, flexible and meaningful employment for those who find it more difficult to access it. Every piece of jewellery bought takes our makers one step closer to their goal of leaving the hostel.

About our Workshops

Working with our Master Maker, Jason, learn how to cut, shape, mould and polish acetate into beautiful and unique earrings. Acetate is a semi-synthetic material made primarily from a plant base of tree pulp and cotton. All of our acetate is donated waste material from spectacle maker Cubitts.

All profits from this workshop are reinvested into our social mission of helping those experiencing homelessness. Find out more about our impact.

Private Events

We've done private workshops for birthdays, hen dos, and office Christmas parties. If you'd like to organise a private event fill in the form below and let us know your requirements in the message specifying the location, number of people and the kind of workshop you'd like to do. We'll reply as soon as possible.

Team

Alice Moxley

Founder & CEO

Alice originally trained as an architect, before stepping into the social enterprise world as a Year Here fellow in 2019. As well as focusing on business development, Alice predominantly looks after design and production. She loves teaching in hostels when she gets the opportunity to do so. Alice has been listed as a WISE100 top women in social enterprise, and is a Shackleton Leader.

Favourite Pivot piece: Full Circle

Sabella Ibanez

Head of Operations

Sabella unofficially joined Pivot two years ago, and in August 2021 became a bonafide member of the team. Sabella acts as the “swiss army knife” and lends her hand to everything. She has created and delivered Pivot’s system of pop-ups, taking Pivot to a total of 45 markets in 2021! As we grow Sabella will take on more responsibility for operations, working closely with Jason to deliver programmes, workshops and events.
